Dad of 3d Twins Seeks Better Job, Bigger Home

A better job and a bigger house were extremely needful goals today for John Walsh, 28, of Avalon ave., Quincy Point, whose wife, Alice, 26, presented him last night with their third set of twins in one year and 51 weeks. The happily dazed head of the family gazed proudly at his new babies, a boy and girl, at the South Shore Hospital in Weymouth, this morning, spent a little while with his smiling wife, then went off to consider the financial ramifications of this new record in American twindom.

Walsh is a temporary clerk at the Veterans Administration. The Walsh home, half of a two-family house, has only two bedrooms. Their milk bill has been for eight quarts a day and soon 12 quarts will be the rule.

"Eggs are a big item, too," said Walsh. I've got to find a job that will enable me to give the children all they need—and proper sleeping accommodations. Security is my principal problem. People have been telephoning me congratulations and I even found a number of letters in the box this morning. Some were from strangers. It's nice to know so many people are interested but I've got to get busy job-hunting."

COLLEGE GRADUATE

Walsh is a graduate of Boston College, 1940 and a pharmacist's mate in the Navy. His wife, the former Alice Levangie of Myrtle st., East Weymouth, was a SPAR pharmacist's mate, working with him at a Naval air station in Maryland.

The naming of the new twins and finding godparents for them are among the problems at hand. Walsh disclosed they were considering Kathleen and Kevin. But they are also considering Robert and Patricia Ann. The decision is pending.

Of all the messages they received, only one was of disagreeable nature. An anonymous writer took violent exception to the right of any couple to have so many children in such a short time. Walsh thought of turning it over to the postal authorities but decided it would serve no purpose to identify the crank.

The father is for the moment separated from all three sets of twins. One pair is with his mother, Mrs. John J. Walsh of Coolidge st., Brookline, and the other set is with his mother-in-law, Mrs. William E. Levangie, Myrtle st., East Weymouth.

Walsh's first reaction on learning of the safe delivery of the latest twins was:

"Brother, the suspense was awful, but everything is okay now."

In a few minutes his breath came easier and he continued:

"This is all very well, and we are very happy to have these fine children. We don't care if it is some kind of a medical record."

The record in question had its origin on Oct. 10, 1945, when a pair of boys was born to the couple at the Navy Dispensary in Washington, D. C. John Joseph, Jr., weighed 6 pounds and 9 ounces and William Edward 6 pounds and 1 ounce.

Last Oct. 16, or 53 weeks later, twins were born at South Shore Hospital, Michael weighing in at 6 pounds 1 ounce and Maureen at 5 pounds and 14 ounces. The third set, arriving just 50 weeks after Set No. 2, makes it three pairs in just one week short of two years.

Where all the pairs will sleep was another major problem suggested to him, and how Mrs. Walsh will set up a feeding schedule to handle infants, another pair a year old and a couple of boys just two years of age.

Also birthday presents and parties were seen as a problem—three birthdays to be celebrated at double strength within a 13-day space.

But Walsh was able to look on the bright aspects in his first flush of triple-twin parenthood.

"We are glad Maureen has a little sister now," he observed.

Suspect Believed Cracking In Billerica Sex Murder

State police working on the sex-murder of attractive 24-year-old Mrs. Roberta Coy Dunn, Boston rd., Billerica, whose body was found in a neighbor's cellar yesterday, believed today they had cracked the alibi of a 215-pound six-footer wh o was sujected to night-long questioning at the Concord barracks. The suspect was caught cold in a lie when he was called upon to account for a roll of bills in his pocket, it was learned. Detectives had pressed him hard on that point because Mrs. Dunn's handbag, found near her body, contained only $20, whereas her husband, Frank Dunn, knew she had $70 in it Thursday, the day she vanished.

The man in custody, a Billerica resident, had been named as an annoyer of Mrs. Dunn long before she was killed.

"Throughout last night, while five State detectives questioned him and checked his answers, the man insisted he had been given the money by a Boston man.

Officers contacted the Boston resident and he denied he had given the money to the suspect. The latter was to be confronted with his repudiator this afternoon.

THURSDAY A BLANK

The suspect, still suffering from a hangover, was holding to a story that he could not remember anything about Thursday, but he gave police conflicting answers on several points.

Meanwhile, the grieving husband made plans for his wife's funeral Monday. It will be held in the afternoon from the Perry Funeral Home, Billerica, with burial in Fox Hill Cemetery.

Aiding Dunn in readying his little house for the sad occasion were his wife's mother and sister, Mrs. Sadie Coy and Mrs. Jessie Treworgy, both of Billerica. It was the second time within a year tragedy had struck the Dunn household. His wife lost a baby several months ago.

Police found their suspect after talking to his wife.

She said she had left home and gone to her mother's the night before the killing. She said her husband was a perfectly normal fellow when he "was right," but that he got a lot of queer ideas when he got to drinking.

WIFE LEFT

She added that she had quarrelled with him the night before the murder because he was lazy and had started drinking again. She said she decided to go to the home of her mother.

Earlier, the suspect had been taken on a tour of the district, taken to the dwelling and into the low cellar where Mrs. Dunn's body was found. He had the same stock answer for everything that detectives asked him.

"I was drinking—I can't remember."

"Sure, I thought she was pretty nice," he said at one point. "Who wouldn't? She was an awfully pretty girl."

2D NEIGHBOR HELD

By coincidence, another neighbor—also a resident of Boston rd, —for a time was held as a suspect. The man was picked up for drunk in Magoun sq., Somerville. Arresting officers noticed his papers showed he came from Boston rd., Billerica. When they asked him what part he told them "right near where that woman was murdered. I read about it in the papers. I knew her."

Police sped him to Concord barracks also but it soon developed that he was completely innocent and police gave him a ride to his home.

Mrs. Dunn's last act before leaving her home was to write a love note to her husband. It read:

"Pick me up at my mother's. I still love you. Love and kisses."

It was signed "Bubbles," the pet name her husband had for her.

The hunt for the slayer, or slayers, began soon after the murdered woman's husband, Frank, and her brother, Howard Coy of Billerica, found the body.

They had been searching ceaselessly since she failed to return home or show up at the home of her mother.

Dunn and Coy had gone to the home of a neighbor and, finding

Early Yule For Boy, 9, Cancer Victim

DETROIT, Oct. 4 (AP)—An October Christmas tree, decked with presents including baseballs and rollerskates, was planned today for a boy who may not live for another summer's fun.

The early celebration will come off sometime this months because physicians feared that an incurable cancer might take the life of husky Tommy Scott, 9, before Dec. 25.

Blond Tommy, who knows something is wrong but doesn't realize how serious it is, will receive a wealth of indoor playthings when Santa makes his fall visit. But his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Scott, planned to give him the balls and skates too so the youngster will not suspect the reason for his early Chrismas.

Mrs. Scott found out about Tommy's illness when she took her young son to Dr. J. J. Angel about a year ago, describing him as:

"A normal boy, a little more ornery than most."

It was then the doctor told her that a painful ailment caused the "ornery" disposition.

Dr. Angel approved the premature Christmas scheduled by Mrs. Scott and her factory worker husband.

"There's nothing we can do but try to make him comfortable and prolong his life," the physician explained.

Hero Dead Start Home From Europe

By JOSEPH L. RANFT

ANTWERP, Belgium, Oct. 4 (INS)—The transport Joseph V. Connolly, bearing the first American war dead to be returned home from Europe, sailed today for the United States with the bodies of 5600 soldiers.

As the Joseph V. Connolly, named in honor of the late president of King Features Syndicate and International News Service, steamed slowly and solemnly out of the harbor with the remains of the men who gave their lives for the cause of freedom, liberated peoples joined with Americans in many parts of Europe to offer silent homage.

United States and Belgium officials, with dignitaries of other Allied nations, gathered in the ancient Belgian port for the official departure ceremony.

THOUSANDS CROWD PLAZA

Flags were lowered to half-mast today at United States embassies and legations in all parts of Europe.

Religious services and military reviews marked memorial ceremonies at U. S. military ceremonies and Army installations in France, Belgium, Britain, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Thousands of grateful Belgians crowded the ancient plaza, which is situated in a picturesque sector of winding streets scarcely 300 yards from Pier 21 where the funeral ship had waited. Ancient guildhalls and the Hotel De Ville, called the purest and most grandiose example of Renaissance architecture, surrounded the colorful but solemn gathering.

A flag-draped casket, bearing the remains of a soldier selected at random, lay in state as a symbol of all United States World War II dead. The catafalque on which it rested was the focal point of the ceremony, and was guarded by carefully-selected members of the U. S. armed forces.

While the last casket of the 5600 making the homebound cargo was placed aboard, military bands played the national anthems of the United States and Belgium.

Plans call for one stop of the Connolly at Argentina, Newfoundland, where 600 additional American World War II dead are to be taken aboard.

Many of the dead had fallen halting the Nazis' Ardennes offensive.

Truman, Aides Broadcast Save Food Plan Tomorrow

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (INS)—The Presidential Food Committee announced today that the "first phase of specific voluntary food program" will be revealed to the American public over a nationwide broadcast Sunday night. This disclosure was made by a spokesman for Charles Luckman, chairman of Mr. Truman's Citizens' Food Committee. The broadcast begins at 10:30 p. m. tomorrow. It will originate in the Oval Room at the White House.

Thus far, the Administration and the Food Committee have offered no clear-cut plan on just how the American people are to save food to help the hungry in western Europe.

President Truman, Agricultural Sec. Anderson, Commerce Sec. Harriman and State Sec. Marshall will participate in the broadcast. Mr. Truman was reported today to have a hoarse throat but it was expected he would make his address.

Marshall's talk will be relayed from the home of Undersecretary of State Lovett in Locust Valley, N. Y.

Part of the program is scheduled to come from hunger areas in Europe if atmospheric conditions permit.

Luckman's spokesman said the broadcast will be the first of its kind to be televised from the White House.

Meanwhile, Luckman met with representatives of the brewing industry to consider its participation in plans to provide additional relief for Europe.

Churchill Calls For Ouster of Labor Regime

By THOMAS C. WATSON

BRIGHTON, Eng., Oct. 4 (INS)—Winston Churchill condemned Britain's Labor government today and urged the Conservative followers to stand by for a new general election. Winding up the convention of Conservative and Unionist factions, he let go full blast against the Socialist regime. He said:

"The first step to national recovery is to get rid of these men."

He sternly criticized Socialist mistakes and "incompetence," but added that the Conservatives steadily had supported Foreign Secretary Bevin in foreign affairs "especially in maintaining that close fraternal association with the United States upon which the peace and safety of the modern world depend."

Churchill charged Prime Minister Attlee's regime is moving "toward a scheme of an all-powerful state in which the individual is a helpless serf or pawn.

"The scheme of society for which we stand is establishment and maintenance of a basic minimum standard of life and labor, below which a man or woman of good will, however old or weak, shall not be allowed to fall.

"Once this basic standard is established we shall liberate the energies, genius and contrivance of the British nation from the paralyzing and humiliating thralldom into which it is now plunged."

The Conservatives ordered their executive committee to wage war on Communism in England and speakers laid Britain's economic crisis partly on the shoulders of Communist agents.

Anthony Gorman charged:

"The policy of the Communist is to impede and hinder every step that is likely to lead to national recovery," warning that trade unions are "in danger of complete domination by Communists."

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 4 (AP)—Henry Wallace last night said that the National Assocciation of Manufacturers "plays white against Negro, Christian against Jew, and Catholic against Protestant."

The former vice-president addressed a Progressive Citizens of America meeting in Springfield Auditorium. He told his audience:

"You have noticed, I am sure, that the NAM advertising is never directed to the fight against racial discrimination and prejudice."

Wallace is scheduled to swing into Vermont where he is to speak at Brattleboro today and at Montpelier Sunday.

Red Mass Blesses New Judicial Year

Inaugurated in 1940 and already a New England tradition in legal circles, the annual Red Mass was celebrated in the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning with dignitaries of all faiths representing nation, state and city in attendance.

The mass, offered to invoke God's blessing on the coming judicial year, gained its title from the scarlet robes of justices of long ago and the red vestments worn at the altar.

It originated in Europe during the middle ages and was continued in England even during the recent war when judges and lawyers of all beliefs thronging Westminster Cathedral for the annual service.

The Old World rite was introduced here by the Boston College Law School under the auspices of the late William Cardinal O'Connell.

The address was delivered by Rev. James M. Gillis, C.S.P., editor of The Catholic World and a columnist on the Pilot, who has a national reputation as a preacher, writer and lecturer.

He likened modern complex civilization to a skyscraper whose foundation is anchored in solid rock while civilization must be based "on God, the ultimate basis of the universe."

He warned that Communists recognize the foundation of our civilization and:

"The object of their attack is not theology or theologians, not the clergy or the Church or religion but God.

"Their central, anti-religious organization is called not a league of skeptics or agnostics but plainly and boldly the 'Anti-God League.' It has ostensibly been dissolved. But so was the Comintern dissolved. Ostensibly!

"Another misunderstanding on the part of certain not too intelligent observers is that the war on God concerns only religion, which they take to be but one phase of civilization.

"God is All; if He goes, nothing remains. If God goes, there goes with Him Good, Truth, Beauty, Jutice, Being, All.

Most Rev. John J. Wright, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, pontificated at today's mass and Rt. Rev. Eric F. MacKenzie, D.C.L., was Assistant Priest.

Gov. Bradford Seeks Supreme Court Decision on Evictions

Gov. Bradford on Monday will seek a Supreme Court ruling on his powers to halt evictions—an aftermath of an opinion from Atty. Gen. Clarence Barnes that he has no such power in this state.

The governor said he was taking such action because he wished "to leave no stone unturned" in his efforts to prevent wholesale dumping of tenants into the streets this winter.

He further announced he was collecting figures from all district courts of the State to learn how many evictions were to be put into effect between now and the convening of the Legislature next January.

Asked about the possibility of a special Legislative session to act on evictions, Bradford indicated he did not think a special session was necessary since the Legislature convenes Jan. 8. Under existing law, the courts are compelled to give four months' notice to all tenants in eviction cases, so those that have come up since the present law became effective Sept. 8 could be suspended until the Legislature acts.

Bradford emphasized that Barnes' opinion that he had no power to extend the four months' discretionary period in eviction cases was "merely advisory." A half dozen bills have already been filed for the next legislative session to provide a moratorium on evictions.

Overell Juror Ill, But Ponders Fate Of Beulah, Gollum

SANTA ANA, Cal., Oct. 4 (AP)—One of the jurors trying Louise Overell and George ((Bud) Gollum for the yacht blast deaths of her parents, reported sufficiently ill today for a physician to be called but said he would be able to continue with the deliberations.

The juror, Thomas Enyart, suffering from sinus trouble and a cold, was treated by his personal physician who administered a cold serum.

The six men and six women jurors, who received the case at 4:10 p. m. (PST) yesterday and mulled over it until 11:53 p. m. before being locked up for the night, resumed their deliberations today at 8:55 a. m.—five minutes early. They requested a supply of scratch paper, indicating they may be ready to take another ballot shortly.

Attorneys reported Louise spent a restless night, too nervous to get much sleep but that Gollum appeared to be holding up well. They said Louise cried intermittently much of the night.

Twice during the evening the jurors called for exhibits, and then returned to court to ask for added instructions on the evidence in the longest murder case on record which they received from Judge Kenneth Morrison at 4:16 o'clock yesterday afternoon, 74 trial days after it began May 26.

It wanted the small scale model of the blasted Overell yacht, the Mary E., and pictures showing the prosecution's version of where Walter E. Overell, Los Angeles financier, was situated at the time of the explosion last March 15.

Then at 11:15 p. m. it re-entered the crowded court room as defendants and attorneys were brought in, and asked about the controverted testimony of a prosecution witness.

Before the jury quit for the night at 11:53 p. m., the foreman, Jay A. Porter, Orange, Cal., rancher, wanted to know "whether false testimony given before the grand jury may be considered in this case."

Judge Morrison replied that the testimony Dr. John J. Montanus, a state expert witness, gave before the grand jury which indicted the defendants was admitted in the present trial "solely in reflecting upon his credibility as a witness."

"It may be used solely for the purpose of impeaching the witness," the court held.

When the jury returned to its deliberations after receiving its further instructions, Beulah and Gollum remained in the court room

Brother, Police Seize Brother Fleeing Shots in 4-City Chase

In the driveway of his Paris st., Everett, home, where his four taxicabs were parked, Robert Cavanaugh was awakened by the sound of a motor at 3 a. m., today. He roused his son, John, who hopped into a pair of trousers and rushed out to investigate.

But before John reached the driveway, there was a crash. He found one cab damaged, another speeding down the street. Jumping into a third, he gave chase. The cars raced through Everett to Sullivan sq., into Charlestown and then up over Beacon Hill, with speed increasing as the pursuit extended.

In the Back Bay, a Boston police cruiser joined the chase which led to East Boston and into Revere. Revere police were notified by radio. With revolvers drawn, two patrolmen ordered the cab to stop, but reported the driver almost ran them down. They fired five shots but the cab kept going.

By this time, more police cars had joined in pursuit. In Chelsea, police fired two more shots. In Everett, three more shots were fired.

Finally Everett Patrolmen Ernest Sheddon and John LaCornec, caught up with the taxi in their cruiser and forced it to the curb at Main and Bradford sts. The driver stepped out, holding his arms above his head and was arrested at gun point.

Police booked him as James F. Cavanaugh, 25, of Paris st., Everett, another son of the cab owner and brother of the youth who started the chase. He was charged with using a car without authority and leaving the scene of an accident after causing property damage.

James pleaded not guilty in Malden District Court, but was convicted on both complaints by Judge Elbridge G. Davis after a brief trial at which his father and brother testified against him.

Judge Davis ordered the youth committed to the house of correction for six months. James appealed and was remanded to jail when he was unable to furnish bail of $1000.

Police said her husband, attached to the regional Boy Scout office in Federal st., was attending an organization convention in Swampscott. Damage was estimated at less than $250.

N. J. Test Balloon Puzzles So. Shore

South Shore residents were puzzled today at sight of a balloon, floating several miles in the air, but learned later it was one of three released in a weather bureau experiment in New Jersey yesterday.

Residents of Scituate, Cohasset, Hingham and other South Shore communities also reported sighting the balloon as it drifted over the area. Large crowds, many with binoculars, gathered to watch. Many others telephoned police and newspaper offices seeking information.

Outstanding visiting units in the line of march will include a corps of 1500 New York police officers; 800 New York firemen and 400 New York postal employes.

Throughout the march planes from Bedford Airport, piloted by Holy Name Society members at the field, will fly high above the parade, which will be led by Abp. Cushing and the Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the U. S.

HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

Today's program opened with a pontifical mass for decreased members at St. James' Church, Harrison ave. The memorial service was followed by the convention's final business session at Boston Opera House and a luncheon given by Abp. Cushing for diocesan directors at Hotel Statler.

Principal speaker at the final business session was the Rev. Thomas F. Carey, O. P., of New York, ass't national director of the Holy Name Society, who attacked those in government who had favored Communists until now when they were being purged from federal positions.

"Officials in high and low places not only tolerated Communists and their teachings but welcomed and befriended them," he said. "Lend lease materials worth $64,000,000,000 were given to Russia alone during the war when it was possible that less than one-half that would have seen them through.

"Of that figure, it is possible that about $40,000,000,000 was siphoned away by Russia and used to maintain control of one-half of all Europe.

"Now these same officials ask us to impose tests to root out Communists. There's more than just bureaucratic stupidity here. There's a wall of mystery—not an iron curtain."

AWE-INSPIRING SPECTACLE

The awe-inspiring candlelight spectacle staged at the darkened Braves Field was one of the most notable religious demonstrations ever witnessed in Boston, attracting the largest crowd ever assembled at the field.

The display came in the middle of the solemn benediction by Most Rev. Peter L. Ireton, bishop of Richmond, Va. The thousands of men who had filed into the park for two hours before the ceremonies started, rose to their feet and led by Very Rev. Harry C. Graham, O. P., national director of the Holy Name Society, recited the Holy Name pledge.

The field, which had been lighted by the giant arcs for other parts of the service, was plunged into darkness at the start of benediction, as the thousands of men lighted their candles, and the huge altar, also bedecked with hundreds of candles, was illuminated.

The Holy Hour service marked the end of the second day of the Boston convention. Earlier yesterday, the 7000 delegates, without a dissenting vote, passed 15 resolutions, one of them calling on Congress to set aside Good Friday each year as a natinal holiday of prayer. A resolution, expressing sympathy with the Russian people because of their rule by an atheistic regime, will be beamed to Russia by Station WRUL and copies presented to the Russian ambassador in Washington and to the United Nations Assembly.

In other resolutions, the convention deplored bigotry, stressed the ties between Catholics and the hierarchy, protested barring parochial school children from school buses and extended "the hand of forgiveness and fraternity" to all Christians.

Declaring that the barring of parochial school children from transportation facilities is a privation of their legal and natural rights, the society places itself on record to express whenever necessary its resentment at such treatment.

Combined with a resolution denouncing "mercy killings" is the condemnation of birth control and sterilization. Such practices are termed "depraved and immoral, hateful to God and grave violations of human liberty."

no one home, casually kicked open a door leading to a dirt-floored cellar.

No sooner had they walked in when they spotted Roberta's body wedged between a old ice box and a cellar heater. Fully clothed it was covered only with a rug.

The griefstricken husband and his brother-in-law raced for the Billerica police and within a short time Medical Examiner Dr. Mason D. Bryant disclosed that Mrs. Dunn had been strangled "presumably with a cord." No immediate announcement was made that she had been horribly violated.

But the autopsy that came later disclosed she had been the victim of a particularly vicious double sex attack. This disclosure was made by Dr. Walter Jetter, assistant state pathologist, while state detectives were scouring nearby communities for the first of the suspects.

When found, the victim's clothing was not disarranged except that her brown loafer shoes had been removed and were placed carefully beside the body. She still was wearing the clothing in which she so gayly had left her home—yellow skirt, white blouse, green coat and white ankle sox.

$50 MISSING

At first, detectives believed robbery was the motive since Dunn insisted his wife had $70 in her pocketbook when he left home in the morning. The pocketbook, also beside the body, had but $20.

When and how the murder was committed gave detectives their first puzzle. Dr. Jetter gave the opinion that Mrs. Dunn had been slain outside the cellar, but not too far away since the body gave little signs of having been carried or dragged any great distance.

Further credence to this theory was furnished by another neighbor, Roland Perrin, who said his young son, only 5, had been playing "in and out" of the cellar with other neighborhood youngsters all afternoon on the day the victim vanished.

On leaving home, Mrs. Dunn left a note for her husband, explaining she was going to the home of her mother. She ordinarily went by bus, walking a short distance to a bus stop on Route 3A. It is believed she was waylaid and slain en route.

She was seen to leave the little cottage an hour before noon by Mrs. Sophie Perrin, 26, wife of the property owner and occupant of another cottage 150 feet distant. Mrs. Perrin said she carelessly noted the departure and saw Mrs. Dunn halt momentarily and evidently pass out some pennies to neighborhood children.

That time is the last she is known to have been seen alive by neighbors or anybody else who knew her except the murderer.

AUTOPSY PERFORMED

Dunn reached home in late afternoon, found the note and went to his mother-in-law's home, only to learn that Roberta had not been there. Believing she might have gone to Lowell on a shopping trip, he returned home and waited until the last bus from Lowell stopped near the house at 15 minutes past midnight.

When she was not on that bus, Dunn went immediately to police and reported her missing.

Her neighbors yesterday described the young murder victim as pretty, quiet and pleasant, with an evident great love for children.

Roberta was one of six children of the widowed Mrs. Sadie Coy. In addition to Howard Coy, the brothers are Myrton Coy of 54 Mystic st., Arlington; Frederick E. Coy of 61 Woburn st., Lexington, and William C. Coy, who lives with the mother. The surviving sister is Mrs. Jessie Coy Treworgy of Billerica.

Howard said last night that he had suspected foul play as early as 7 p. m. Thursday, only eight hours after Roberta left home. This suspicion arose, he explained, because it was rarely that Roberta veered from routine.

And his thought was first directed, Howard continued, to the suspect picked up yesterday, because the suspect had annoyed and troubled Roberta, one day entering her home while she was alone and flopping down on a new spread she had on a bed.

According to the brother, he went to the suspect's home at 1:15 a. m. yesterday and inquired if the man had seen Mrs. Dunn. The suspect showed signs of having been drinking considerably but denied having seen the girl through the day or night.

The parade will take place after the arrival here the preceding day, Oct. 11, of the famous Freedom Train bearing such priceless documents of American history as the Declaration of Independence.

In that connection, Oct. 5, Temporary Mayor John B. # 4 Ex-Cons Seized In Shakedown Try

Five men, four of them former State Prison inmates, faced Roxbury court today in the aftermath of what police described as an attempted "shakedown."

One of the quartet is Gerald F. Coyne, 44, of Jamaica Plain, sought for more than a year for questioning in connection with the East Boston shooting of Joseph Barresi, victim of a numbers pool quarrel.

Others are William F. Thompson, 26, of Malden st., South End; Milton K. Varney, 31, of Bent ct., South Boston, and Joseph Howard, 44, of Call st., Jamaica Plain. A fifth man was arrested at his home after police questioned the quartet.

Coyne and Howard were arrested by waiting policemen when they arrived at the home of a South End lodging house keeper who had claimed she was the victim of a $100 "bail" demand because she allegedly had rented a room to a couple the two men—posing as policemen—had insisted were not married. The other two men were arrested in a car while waiting outside the lodging house.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 4 (INS)—The Communist-dominated Hungarian cabinet decided to deprive former Premier Ferenc Nagy of his citizenship.

N. E. Council Asks Uniform Tax

More than 2100 New England Council members today were urged by their president, Richard L. Bowditch, to call upon Congress to pass legislation making all states conform in the matter of federal income tax matters.

In a letter to members, Bowditch wrote:

"The directors of the New England Council feel that the better way to remove the discrimination, which has existed since 1913, is to amend the federal income tax law. It is further believed that with the Treasury surplus, and with the now favorable attitude of the Treasury, there is a very good prospect of securing remedial action at the next session of Congress."

Wanger Joins Eagle Lion

Announcement that Walter Wanger and his company, Walter Wanger Pictures, Inc., have joined Eagle Lion Films as an independent production unit marks the completion of one of the year's most important motion picture industry deals.

Under the terms of the agreement, as stated by Robert R. Young, controlling stockholder of Pathe Industries, Inc., Wanger will acquire a substantial interest in the stock of Pathe Industries, parent company of Eagle Lion, and Pathe, in turn, will receive an important financial interest in Walter Wanger Pictures, Inc.

At the same time, Eagle Lion will also share with Wanger his contracts with such stars as Joan Bennett, Susan Hayward and several others.

For years one of Hollywood's foremost executives, Wanger will produce a minimum of four top-budget pictures annually for Eagle Lion distribution in this country and in Latin-America, and throughout the rest of the world by the J. Arthur Rank Organization, with which Eagle Lion is affiliated.

The contract, in negotiation for several months, will go into effect when production terminates on "Joan of Lorraine," with which Wanger is associated with Ingrid Bergman and Director Victor Fleming.

FAMILY POWWOW between Walter Wanger, one of Hollywood's outstanding producers, and his movie star wife, Joan Bennett, treasurer of Diana Productions.

Smart Set Church Decorated

By BETTY ALDEN

WHITE CHRYSANTHEMUMS and English ivy from the estate of the bride's mother decorate Grace Episcopal Church, Providence, for the marriage this afternoon of Leila Horsford Fiske to Raymond E. Ostby, Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Augustus H. Fiske whose home on the shore of Mt. Hope Bay, Warren, R. I., is known as Kikamuit, and she is related to many prominent Bostonians.

The bride's brother, Rev. Eben Horsford Fiske of Wakefield Cathedral, England, is performing the ceremony assisted by Rev. Clarence Horner of Grace Church. The bride is wearing white slipper satin and an heirloom rose point lace veil.

Edith Hall

Mrs. Maynard K. Drury of Pasadena, Cal., sister of the bride, is matron of honor, wearing gold crepe with gold chrysanthemums and a coronet of ivy. Mrs. Augustus H. Fiske, Jr., of Boston, Edith Hall of Cambridge, Virginia Howard of Providence, cousin of the bridegroom, and Peggy Campbell of Narragansett, are the bridesmaids. They are wearing mint green with coronets of ivy and ostrich tips and carrying Peruvian lilies and English ivy.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske and Dr. and Mrs. William B. Robbins of Boston, Miss Gertrude Fiske and Mrs. Brenton Dickson of Weston, and Mrs. Edmond Sears of Wayland. After their honeymoon the couple will live in Providence. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Ostby of Providence and a Yale graduate.

TWO VINCENT CLUB members are being married at fashionable North Shore weddings this afternoon, one to a graduate of Harvard Business School and the other to a student there.

Eleanor Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Cole of Brookby Farm, Wenham, becomes the bride of John Hornblower Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Meyer of Greenwich, Ct., and Plymouth, at 3:15 in St. Paul's Rectory followed by a reception at Brookby Farm.

The other marriage is that of Constance Whitney Minot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson Minot of Beverly, to Harry James Crossan, Jr., of Bakersfield, Cal. Their wedding at three in Christ Church, Hamilton, is followed by a reception at the Minots'.

Given in marriage by her father, Eleanor Cole is wearing an old fashioned gown of cream lace with tiers of embroidered tulle on the skirt and an heirloom Belgian lace veil worn by five generations of brides in her mother's family. She is carrying calla lilies. Her attendants are wearing turquoise taffeta with tiered skirts and off-shoulder necklines, with headdress and bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Herbert S. Tuckerman, and Mrs. Paul F. Fox are in the wedding party together with Mrs. David B. H. Martin, Mrs. Alfred Meyer, Jr., Janet McKey and two flower girls, Virginia Meyer and Nancy Gannett. Robert Meyer of Plymouth is his brother's best man and the ushers, Alfred Meyer, Jr., Russell T. Fry, Edsha Atkins and Herbert S. Tuckerman.

After cutting her cake and tossing her bouquet Eleanor is changing into a gray suit with wine accessories and leaving with her bridegroom for a honeymoon in Bermuda. They will live in Cohasset.

At the Minot-Crossan nuptials the bride is given in marriage by her father and wearing her grandmother's cream satin gown with heirloom lace and a cream veil caught with orange blossoms. She is carrying ivory roses.

Mrs. William H. Gabel, sister of the bride, and Gloria Gilman are the honor attendants, and Mrs. Thomas F. Moseley and Miriam Mason Minot the bridesmaids. They are wearing chartreuse gowns with matching ostrich tip coronets and carrying gold and rust chrysanthemums.

Beth's Wedding Cake to Show Battle, Sport, Royal Ritual

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's official wedding cake is going to be a four-tiered masterpiece of the baker's and confectioner's art, decorated by scenes of royal ceremony, naval battle and sports, the Bakers National Ass'n announced today.

The bakers described the cake, to be made from ingredients supplied by British dominions, colonies and dependencies, as follows:

TIER 1—The bride's crest, the crest of the groom, Lt. Philip Mountbatten, and representations of Windsor, Balmoral and Buckingham palaces.

TIER 2—Representations showing a casket being presented to a freeman of Windsor, Princess Elizabeth taking the salute as colonel of the Grenadier Guards, a night battle scene at Cape Matapan, musical emblems, and illustrations of tennis, cricket and racing—showing the king's colors.

TIER 3—Designs showing a Cupid holding shields bearing the initials of the bride and groom, the crest of the royal navy, the badges of the Auxiliary Territorial Service (British equivalent of the WACS) and the Girl Guides, and a painting of HMS Valiant, in which Lt. Mountbatten served in the action at Cape Matapan.

TIER 4—Designs showing the badges of Australia, New Zealand, Canada, South Africa, India and Pakistan.

Above the tiers will be a globe carrying the names of all the countries of the British commonwealth.

On top of the globe will be a vase of flowers.

The bakers said the cake had been reduced considerably from the original designs to meet the princess' wishes for austerity.

JVA Approves Parent Program

Parents and other adult relatives of Junior Victory Army members are asked to join the Reading Program in Family Life which opened last Wednesday and ends in May.

The program is designed to answer questions on family life and acquaint readers with books and services available for their needs.

Anyone may participate, according to Mrs. N. May Larson, family life specialist of the Extension Service of the University of Mass. Lists of the books may be obtained from County Extension Service offices and local libraries.

Persons who read five of the selected books will receive certificates from the State Parent-Teachers Ass'n.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped, in your letter.

Late Evening Gowns

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

SWEEPING FOLDS and suave curves make the new season evening gowns. And in them you'll be gay, grand and glamorous. There's a sort of presentation-at-court-regality about the new formal fashions . . . a combination of decorum and disguise manipulated in fabulous fabrics to make a portrait picture out of a person.

You'll strike a pose in your after-dark gown . . . and you'll keep it. There's no denying that the fall and winter evening creations are the most unbelievably beautiful excursions into dressmaking in many a season. Of course, every year evening clothes are endowed with boundless imaginative and two-dollar adjectives of praise and punch. Many times they have been overstatements. They were during the war years when fabric was at a premium . . . and when the kinds of fabric were responsible for many a designer's nightmare. But this year . . . with fashion freedom riding high and the designers giving full vent to their contemporary adaptation of artistic research . . . prodigal fabrics returned to the fold (no pun intended) . . . the evening fashion scene gives promise of extravagant opulence over plush 22-karat femininity.

While Ben Reig adds nothing but flattery to the hips in his evening originals . . . his manipulation of fabric is such that your own slimness shows . . . like a light in a lantern.

DARK OVER LIGHT . . . in a reversal of last spring's acceptance of light-over-dark . . . makes this Samuel Koss taffy satin and black crepe one of the loveliest for a lovely season. Gold bead "tambour" embroidery encrusts the front of the skirt . . . its fullness achieved via big circular godet inserts. A separate shawl of black crepe repeats the embroidered motif.

GLORIFIED shirtwaist frock is again sponsored for the dinner and theater hour by Hattie Carnegie . . . since it was she, the first of all fashion designers, to bring it into the evening scene. A tremendous skirt of charcoal black pure silk suit.

LACE AND SATIN . . . above, a newcomer twosome to the evening fashion scenes . . . is dramatically combined by Ben Reig for this after-dark fabric lavishness. In this evening dress . . . black Chantilly lace has been used over bronze satin.

Wants Bouquet Back

A friend of mine is getting married and she does not want to throw her bridal bouquet unless it is returned to her after it is caught. Would this be proper?

A. M. S.

Certainly not customary, but perhaps permissible if the bride has some definite reason for wishing to follow this unusual procedure. If so, she should arrange beforehand to have someone (perhaps a sister or cousin, someone not a member of the bridal party) explain her wish and the reason for it, to the one who catches the bouquet.

Facial Expression

Your facial expression . . . or lack of it . . . when you say "How do you do" in acknowledging an introduction will either incline people to like you and want to know you better, or will make them lose interest in you or in knowing you. Watch it . . . especially when you are meeting new people and want to make a good impression.—MRS. BEECKMAN.

Kitchen Tricks Back in Vogue

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

CONSERVATION OF FOOD is headline news these days, and all the wartime kitchen tricks are once again in operation. Using less tender cuts of meat, and substitutes for meat, making the most of leftovers, and buying the fruits and vegetables that are in plentiful supply, are all good ways to save food and money.

A variety of nutritious and appetizing dishes can be served on a comparatively small food budget, as illustrated in the menus below. These menus provide three full meals in one day for an average family, and have been suggested by Good Housekeeping Institute in co-operation with the plan of President Truman to save food.

INVITATION TO DISASTER

THE AVIATION manufacturing industry of America was producing airplanes at the rate of 100,000 a year when fighting ceased in the second World War.

Today—even before peace treaties have been made—the industry has dwindled to such an extent that, in event of an emergency, it could not meet the "normal" requirement of our air defense forces.

And the "time lag" involved in re-establishing production might be fatal to us.

The foregoing facts have been presented to the President's Air Policy Commission by representatives of the manufacturers, appearing at hearings in Washington.

Seven witnesses in one day presented the dismal truth, emphasizing that the default was due (1) Insufficient funds for research; (2) inadequate appropriations to cover authorized government orders; and (3) the lack of a long-range plan of authorizations of contracts.

It was further emphasized that only the Federal Government—whose armed forces are necessarily the largest potential customers—can repair the deficiencies, as the total volume of business available from commercial aviation is insufficient to keep the requisite aircraft factories functioning and to support the kind of advanced research that modern warfare compels.

Speaking as president of the Aircraft Industry Association, Major General Oliver P. Echols (retired) said:

"Reliance in a future emergency on a production 'miracle' could be an American 'Maginot Line,' since the nation will not have four and one-half years to build up production to strategic requirements.

"Defeat would be inevitable unless our IMMEDIATE ABILITY to produce is equal to our MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS for successful defense.

"This ability to produce 100,000 planes annually after four and one-half years cannot compare in the future with the ability to produce 10,000 to 15,000 within a limited number of months after the emergency is declared.

"From current levels of production it would be impossible to provide the 6000 to 10,000 planes necessary to bring the air forces up to operational level WITHIN ANY PERIOD OF TIME STRATEGIC CONSIDERATIONS MIGHT ALLOW."

Further pointing the dangerous deficiencies that are arising are data compiled by the American Legion.

THE ARMED SERVICES NEED SEVENTY AIR GROUPS.

LAST JULY WE HAD ONLY FIFTY-FIVE.

Moreover, this is not a question of justifiable "economy."

The Legion reported:

"Even the British, faced with serious economic problems, ARE MAINTAINING A LARGER AIR FORCE THAN THE UNITED STATES."

A complete program for "air industrial mobilization" is an IMPERATIVE ESSENTIAL for our national security.

YOUR NEWSBOY

THIS IS your newsboy's special day; the proud and grateful nation has set it apart for his particular honor.

Observe it personally by a kind word or affectionate gesture to the lad who brings the paper to your home or sells it to you in the street.

Encouragement means much to this young businessman who is working hard today for the great things he expects to do tomorrow.

If you talk with him you will learn that he wants to be a doctor, a lawyer or even a Governor or the head of an industry.

And in all likelihood you will find yourself believing in him implicitly and firmly resolving hereafter to do what you can to help him make his dream come true.

—ANNE BARNARD.

ALL MY LIFE I wanted to ride from Cincinnati to New Orleans on a river boat. But I keep postponing the trip. If I don't make it soon I will miss seeing "Big Mamma" coming round the bend. "Big Mamma," the official name of which is Sprague, is the world's largest river towboat. It is 315 feet long and 62 feet wide. It has been active on the Mississippi river for 45 years. Its power is illustrated by the fact that it once pushed 61 barges of coal from Cairo to New Orleans. It is soon to be retired.

SIDELIGHTS: So Greer Garson wept at her divorce trial. That is very unusual for a Hollywoodian. But Greer is a north of Ireland girl and the young women from that part of the world like to stay married for keeps . . . Pete Peletta of Sacramento, Cal., has grown in his back yard a squash five feet long and weighing 125 pounds. "Can Brooklyn top that?" asks a Californian. Couldn't say. I don't even know if squash grows in Brooklyn. It didn't in our back yard.

Greer Garson

ASKING: Query from client. Q—My husband was born Sept. 13. He is ultra conservative about my clothes. I am not an extremist but I do like to be comfortable when we are alone in our apartment. He expects me to behave and dress as if we lived in a show window. Is this characteristic of Virgo men? A—Virgo (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) men are fastidious. They have a great sense of neatness. Informality in dress at any time or place irritates them. Or so say the stargazers. So I guess you will have to be a glamor girl on a 24 hour basis to keep your spouse contented.

BRIEFLY: The Scotch Old Fashioned is now a popular drink in many Manhattan bistros. I like an Irish Old Fashioned . . . A Manchester, Wash., subscriber informs me butter in her town is retailing at $1 per pound, plus three cents tax. Bacon is 88 cents a pound plus two cents tax. Manchester is about 18 miles from Seattle. You would think butter and bacon would be cheaper in country towns. But evidently it isn't.

CHICAGO HUSBANDS: Faye Unikel has written a song titled, "I'm Lucky." It is a ditty in praise of one of those wonderful Chicago husbands. Feminine subscribers mated to one of these super duper Chicago matrimonial gems will no doubt be interested in Mrs. Unikel's song. They will want to sing it to their husbands on their wedding anniversaries.

PASSING BY: Alonzo Stagg. Fifty-two years a football coach and still at it. I think the best player Stagg ever coached was Walter Eckersall. Second best, Wally Steffen . . . Henry Duffy. Play producer from the Pacific coast. Staging a Broadway invasion this season. Henry was married to Anne Nichols when she wrote "Abie's Irish Rose." But he didn't think much of it. Anne and Henry parted shortly after. Henry's second wife was Dale Winter, former Chicago night club singer. Any Chicagoan who doesn't remember Dale better resign from the Young Old Timers. She was one of the toasts of the town in her heyday.

SAYS SHE: "So you object to 14 cities and towns being named Brooklyn," writes a young woman of Manhattan. "You say that is 13 too many Brooklyns and you are going to campaign against the situation with the slogan 'One Brooklyn Is Enough.' If you ask me one Brooklyn is more than enough. I am getting so fed up with the Brooklyntes in our office blowing, boasting and bragging about that place on the wrong side of the bridge that I feel like screaming when it is mentioned. I think it is the dullest place I ever visited, inhabited by a singularly dull lot of people. The reason I think Durocher is a smart fellow is that though manager of the Dodgers for years he always lived in Manhattan."

ONLY GIRL: A young woman of San Francisco says she was invited to go golfing by eight men in her office. She accepted. On the way to the country club three other men joined the party. After an afternoon of golf, the 11 men and one girl had dinner together. "Needless to say I had a wonderful time," says the young woman. Women always enjoy being the lone female in a group of men. But men don't usually care to be the only male among a group of females. Imagine a man going to play golf with 11 women. The very thought of it makes a fellow shudder.

"At last we've solved our annual problem, when baseball and football coincide!"

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IT IS ALWAYS BENEFICIAL to go back to history for an understanding of what is happening now. For instance, we find ourselves involved in the organization of a western bloc of nations which we are asked to support to the tune of between $19,000,000,000 and $22,000,000,000. We are also asked to eat less, at a time when Russia reports a bumper crop and the French peasant refuses to sell his wheat because he dislikes the money of his own government. Actually, we know little about all the maneuvers except that we are constantly faced by crises.

Sen. Brewster

The point I wish to make is that the American people know so little of what is done in their name—they are told so little—that they are committed to expenditures of wealth and life unnecessarily. And I should like to cite Gen. Marshall as my witness. Appearing before the Pearl Harbor committee of Congress, he said:

"Had they (the Japanese) not attacked on Dec. 7, had they waited, for example, until Jan. 1, there is a possibility that they would not have launched the attack. I do not know, because it appeared quite a definite possibility that Russia might get to her feet, which she did."

During the Senate examination Senator Brewster asked:

"You and Adm. Stark had both concurred in hoping that decision might be deferred for at least two or three months."

Gen. Marshall replied: "That was our great desire."

A PLAN OF ACTION had been worked out at a conference in Singapore, concerning which the American people knew nothing. In other words, prior to Pearl Harbor, prior to a declaration of war, this country and Great Britain were acting jointly in the Far Eastern situation. Two messages from Churchill to Roosevelt confirm this:

"Your message about Japan received tonight. Also full accounts from Lord Halifax of discussions and your counter-project to Japan on which foreign secretary has sent some comments. Of course it is for you to handle this business and we certainly do not want an additional war. There is only one point that disquiets us. What about Chiang Kai-shek? Is he not having a very thin diet? Our anxiety is about China. If they collapse our joint dangers would enormously increase. We are sure that the regard of the United States for the Chinese cause will govern your action. We feel that the Japanese are most unsure of themselves."

In another message he said: ". . . Forgive me, my dear friend, for presuming to press such a course upon you, but I am convinced that it might make all the difference and prevent a melancholy extension of the war."

WELL, IT SEEMS that while the British assumed that negotiations were taking place to avoid a war, what we now know to be an ultimatum was handed to the Japanese. Secretary Stimson's diary says:

"On the morning of the 27th of November, 1941—the first thing in the morning I called up Mr. Hull to find out what this final decision had been with the Japanese, whether he had handed them the new proposal . . . or whether, as he suggested yesterday, he had broken the whole matter off. He told me how he had broken the whole matter off. As he put it: 'I have washed my hands of it, and it is now in the hands of you and Knox, the Army and the Navy.'"

General Marshall further testified:

"My recollection is, and I have a fairly clear recollection of our disappointment, that from the military point of view, meaning Army and Navy, that we would not gain any more time; our relationship to these discussions was on the one side the desire to gain as much time as we possibly could and on the other to see that commitments were not made that endangered us from a military point of view."

There is more and more of this, and history will record these events very differently from what the American people were told at the time. Much occurred that even high officers of state, Stimson, Welles, Marshall did not know, to say nothing of Congress or the American people. It ought not to be like that. We need to know.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (INS)—Whether you believe it or not, it's true—Don Barry, of all people, is being tested by Seymour Nebenzal for the role of Ben, the lead in "Look Homeward Angel." Yes, I mean that Don, who used to be called "Red," the same who "lavished" gifts on Joan Crawford.

Considering all the publicity Don has had lately, it's interesting the way he came to the attention of Nebenzal and Arthur Ripley. Ripley saw him playing golf at Lakeside, and not knowing who he was, told him he looked exactly as he visualized the character of Ben.

"Now, if you could only act," said Ripley.

"I can," said Don. "I'm an actor."

If he gets that part there'll be no holding Mr. Barry—a far cry from Republic horse operas to a lead in a Thomas Wolfe novel.

Today John Payne has obtained his release from 20th Century-Fox. Although Johnny's contract has four years more to go and his option was taken up last week, Johnny told me:

I'm not the kind of guy to sit on the beach in idleness and draw $3000 a week. In the three years since I came out of the service I made exactly five pictures. I have no hard feelings toward the studio and they say they have no hard feelings toward me. I feel I'll do better somewhere else and I'm glad that I go with their good wishes."

ORIGINALLY Paulette Goddard was to have been starred in "Anna Lucasta" by Robert Kane. Paulette, agreed to a percentage deal. I don't know what happened, because Kane's deal was all set with 20th. But apparently John Wildberg, and Philip Yordan, the writer, changed their minds without notice, and now the whole matter is before the Dramatists Guild in New York.

Paulette Goddard

Bob had spent quite a lot of money getting ready for "Anna Lucasta" and he had his 20th Century-Fox release all set Columbia maintains that there was no definite contract with Kane, but in my book a promise is as good as the written word. If it goes through, Paulette still gets the lead, so Bob is the only loser.

MARTHA STEWART, the so-pretty wife of Joe E. Lewis, and 20th Century-Fox's talented singing and dancing actress, goes to University-International to co-star with Donald O'Connor in "Are You With It." If there was a time, right after he returned from the service, that Donald seemed to slip a bit, he's back on both tap dancing feet again. "Something in the Wind" with Deanna Durbin did it. The kid was so good his bosses wrote out a whopping check for Broadway's "Are You With It" for him.

It starts in November with Jack Hively directing, and I have been told Lew Parker, who was in the Broadway show, is talking dollars and sense to U-I about playing his original role.

TO THE RUMORS that Betty Hutton and Paramount were rowing, Betty replied, "Oh, it's all fixed now. We did have a little misunderstanding. After I told the studio I couldn't do 'Sainted Sisters' because I was going to have a baby, my salary stopped, although there is a clause in my contract that says my salary goes on as long as I can make photographs."

"The whole thing was really not a quarrel," Betty told me. "I was ready to start 'Sainted Sisters,' but the script wasn't ready."

However, an amicable conversation gave Betty her salary for at least a few months. You can bet Paramount won't do anything to hurt Betty. She's too valuable at the box office.

CHIT-CHAT: Lana Turner talked short wave to Tyrone Power in Johannesburg, South Africa, Wednesday night, and there's a cute story back of it.

There is a young "ham" operator living in Venice, Cal., named Evans and he has been frequently intercepting Ty and his crew in their plane. He asked them if they would like to talk to the home folks back here and the enthusiastic answer came back, "Sure, when we reach South Africa."

So Evans (nobody seemed to get his first name) was just as thrilled as were Lana, her mother, Ty's mother and Mrs. Bill Gallagher, whose husband is with Ty.

It looks to me as if Dorothy Lamour was going to be a pretty busy girl if she makes all the pictures she expects to this next year.

She has just put her name on a contract to star in Craig Rice's new book, "The Lucky Stiff," for Amusement Enterprises. This is the company in which Jack Benny is a stockholder, and it's headed by Bernie Luber, at one time a Paramount executive.

If you've read "Lucky Stiff" you know that Dottie will play Anna Marie St. Clair, a convicted murderess who pretends to be dead so she can come back and have justice done.

Bob Hope is going to play Buetel's role in "The Outlaw," when he presents it on his show next Tuesday. Of course, it will be a hilarious satire on "The Outlaw."

Jane Russell, who finished "Pale Face" yesterday as Bob's leading woman, will play her role, the one that has probably been more publicized and more often banned than any other movie. Hope finally got permission to put the play on, but I'm willing to bet his version and his character will bear no resemblance to persons living or dead.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: The Robert Ryans expect their second baby in April. He is the young actor who made such a hit in "Crossfire."

Ava Gardner has been casting her pretty eyes in the direction of Blake Edwards, a young producer at Allied Artists. They were at the Tally-ho together tonight.

Ava Gardner

Eric Korngold, the famous Warner composer, is dangerously ill and his friends are greatly concerned.

Faye Emerson Roosevelt has instructed her agent to look for a play for her to do on Broadway, so apparently she meant what she said when she ruled movies out.

Kirk Douglas' wife, Diana, who is a British subject, has asked for her American citizenship.

Mrs. Harry Carey, who was so broken up over the death of her husband of so many years, leaves for New York tomorrow. John Ford's daughter Barbara goes with her. Mary and John, Olive says, were wonderful to her through all her difficulties.

A sight that is heart-warming to his friends as Lawrence Tierney sitting by himself having an ice cream soda.

Now I've heard everything! There's a new product for sale called DDC, and it's used for sweetening a dog's breath, I just told my Jimmy about it and he gave me a mean look. He says his breath doesn't need sweetening—his best friends told him so.

REV. PAUL DONCOEUR, authority on St. Joan, who has been working as technical adviser on "Joan," speaks no English except three words, "Coke" and "ham sandwich"—and he's had that every day to eat.

Marian Keyes, fashion designer for Enterprise, is the mother of a 7-pound 14-ounce baby boy. She'll call him Peter.

One of the film editors on "Adventures of Don Juan" at Warners is Alan Crosland, Jr. His dad, Al Crosland, directed John Barrymore in the original version, when Al Jr., was just a little boy.

Jackie Cooper and Jackie Coogan are readying a night club appearing together. They try it out next week in Rochester before they go to New York.

That's all today. See you Monday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4—June Haver, who is divorcing her bandleader husband, dates Dr. John Duzeik, her old beau. She plans to trek to the Cradle in Chicago to see if she can adopt a baby boy.

Local show girl, Marie Allison tells friends she'll marry drummer-boy Gene Krupa . . . Frankie Carle's vocalist daughter, Margie Hughes, will quit the band to become a mama . . . Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler, is reported to be heading a syndicate buying into El Rancho Vegas, a Las Vegas night spot . . . Linda Christians, recently enamored of a Mexican biggie, has a new love—a record company executive. She'll rendezvous with him in Switzerland next week . . . Mike Todd, recently declared bankrupt, has a brand new "angel" (the grapevine hears) and is all set for a producing comeback.

Jack Dempsey

DONALD NELSON, much slimmer since his recent illness, is in Gotham with his heart throb, British actress Valerie Rowell. They'll leave for England in about ten days . . . The Bill Kings (she was Pee Wee Donaldson, the front-paged chorine) are lullabying a baby boy . . . Veteran actor Charles Coburn seems to have solved the autograph problem. When he was mobbed for signatures at Chandler's chop house the other night, he more than fulfilled requests with the greatest of ease by passing out already autographed postcard-size photos of himself which he carries in his coat pocket for just such emergencies . . . Woody Herman has discarded his disc jockey job and is reassembling his band. He'll resume his career as a maestro with a tour of one-nighters starting Oct. 15.

THE SONJA HENIE-GREG-Bautzer romance seems to be flourishing—or at least continuing . . . Comics Dear Martin and Jerry Lewis will take a month's rest on doctors' orders after their current Riviera run. They've toiled nightly (and theirs is a breakneck pace) without a pause for 13 months . . . Songwriter Hughie Prince and model Katrine Roselle are sniffing orange blossoms . . . Ella Raines is due in Manhattan—alone—early next week. If that causes a raft of rift rumors, they'll be untrue . . . Joseph Cotten's late arrival at the World Series opening game wasn't the fault of autograph hunters. He just got lost among the ramps in the Yankee Stadium . . . Fred Robbins, the impresario who will present Nellie Lutcher in his one-night stand jazz concert at Town Hall tonight at midnight, has signed a flock of well-known hepsters to do the same type of jazz concert—among them Martha Raye, Mel Torme, Duke Ellington and Count Basie.

TOPS IN TOWN: The Joey Adams show at the Strand . . . Those fancy chicken livers (with almonds, wild rice and chutney) at Monte's-on-the-Park . . . The brilliant Bebop rhythms of the Tadd Dameron group at the 18 Club . . . Gene Williams' warbling with the Thornhill band at the Pennsylvania . . . The Julie Styne-Sammy Cahn song hits in "Romance in High C" (the Warner flicker!) . . . The wonderful Wiere Brothers at the Carnival.

CLEVELAND lads say they know who pulled that Mounds Club stickup. It was an out-of-town gang—but one from within the State of Ohio . . . Johanna Zubeck, a Shubert secretary, has completed a Romanian romance called "Once Around the Heart," which has the operatic blood of John Shubert, Jr., throbbing to its possibilities . . . Apparently there is no chance for a reconciliation between the Marc Platts. He's the former Broadway dancer who graduated to the films . . . Customers of the ticket agency at 7 E. 44th st. invariably do double takes. One of the female runners there is an absolute double for Gloria Swanson . . . Is Leo Durocher set to startle the sports world when he spills his future plans next week? . . . Sammy Kaye will grow even richer via a new "swing and sway" doll just on the market. Its head and skirt ticktock from side to side.

Gloria Swanson

BROADWAY'S newest night club, the Harem, boasts a floor show that must have been put together by a schizopherenic. It includes the most brilliant and exciting act in town, the magnificent Jack Cole and his dancers, and what well might be the worst act ever seen anywhere, a vulgar and tiresome little creature named Pinky who is presented (falsely) as a comedian. It has pretty girls decked in gay costumes, but they are disfigured by lopsided coiffures to which have been added little buns and sausages of green, pink, blue and gray hair for an utterly frightening effect.

Gromyko's Bluff

**-:- -:- -:-

By Kenneth L. Dixon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (INS)—Up at Lake Success the other day, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko pitched a couple more vetoes into the United Nations Security Council sessions—making the Soviet score, as I recall it, 22 vetoes in all.

Since Gromyko can both understand and speak English quite fluently, many theories have been put forward to explain his stubborn pretense to the contrary. One of the most reasonable explanations is that it is easier to carry out his orders and continue disagreeing with the majority of council members when he's talking through an interpreter than when speaking to them, man to man.

In that case, maybe it's about time to give him the Frank Kindel treatment.

NOW, AT THE OUTSET, this is not to imply that Frank Kindel was a Commie or that he and Gromyko had anything in common.

Just the reverse is true, in fact, for Frank could always get along with his neighbors in Carlsbad, New Mexico, where this correspondent labored long ago as editor of the daily Current-Argus. Besides that, the kids in the community loved him, and he was always doing nice things for people.

But Frank was a reformed circus performer turned filling station operator, and when he grew nostalgic for the old days under the big top he would find release in the form of practical jokes. One of his favorites was to pretend to newcomers that he was totally deaf.

He particularly loved to bait newspapermen, and was successful at it to a surprising degree. One advertising man who came to the paper handled Frank's account for over a year, shouting at the top of his voice all the time, and when he quit to go to another job he made a special trip over to the station to scream good-by to Frank—who cupped one hand behind his ear and hollered, "Hey? Hey? I didn't get that?"

I WAS LUCKIER. About the third time Frank came into the office and shouted some criticism of the paper at me, I caught a couple of hidden grins on other faces, and started to say something, but Publisher Floyd B. (Skipper) Rigdon shook his head at me.

After Frank left, the skipper admitted that Frank's hearing was perfect, and we cooked up a little gag.

Next day, when Frank came in, I stood up and yelled as loud as I could: "Hello there, Mr. Kindel! Glad to see you!"

Then, turning slightly away, I said in an ordinary voice to the skipper: "Does this stupid-looking old so-and-so come in here every afternoon to pester us?"

Frank jumped like he was snake-bit, but the skipper winked at him reassuringly, so he yelled back at me: "I came in to talk to you about a story."

"Sure, sure; what's on your mind?" I howled, adding in a low voice, "as if you had one."

Again Frank flinched, and his eyes searched my face, but he carried it out all the way.

It was several days before he was absolutely sure his joke had backfired, and in that time he suffered straight-faced through more personal insults and slander than you'd think any man could take, and although we became the best of friends, I think he still wondered some years later when I left Carlsbad at just what point in those early conversations I'd discovered he was not deaf.

IT MIGHT SHAKE Gromyko's poker-faced stubbornness somewhat if a few of the boys took him at his word and started expressing their opinions of him in English occasionally—when his interpreter wasn't around, of course. It might even make him a little more reasonable.

Old Hands Come Through When Blue Chips Down

By BILL CORUM
International News Service Sports Writer

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4—Dreams came true in leafy, homey and, in places, homely old Brooklyn yesterday, and if this World Series never gives the fans anything else it gave them one golden afternoon of thrills to remember it by. What a game it was and what a truth-is-stranger-than-fiction finish!

Youth wins most of its matches with age in sports. But it isn't a bad thing to have some old hands around when the blue chips are pushed into the center of the table and the last cards are being dealt.

Take the newly knighted nobility in the Barony of the Bums—Baron Lavagetto and Count Casey. There are a couple of tough old birds who have been around Ebbets Field for a long, long time.

In one way, the proud and mighty Casey, who counts each day lost that doesn't see a Series victory won, goes all the way back to the days of "Uncle Robbie" and "Ma," when the Dodgers were the Robins and the Flatbush flock often sang all night long.

For it was "Uncle Robbie" who sort of discovered big Hugh down in Atlanta and who loved-to prophesy great things for him in the big leagues.

He sure would have been proud of "one pitch Hughie" yesterday and the way he walked in there and wrapped up the Yanks' bid for a sure victory in the ninth. Or an almost sure victory. One can never be sure about these Dodgers. They do strange things. Particularly at Ebbets Field. So that winning a World Series ball game on one hit can, in a way, be considered just a run-of-the-mine performance for them.

Old Hughie is, you see, a professional pitcher and not Joe Page, or Wilcy Moore (whom he most resembles), or Firpo Marberry, or "Fireman Johnny" Murphy ever has been a steadier, cooler hand at the touchy business of pulling hot ball games out of the fire.

Casey on the mound has never been immortalized in baseball as was "Casey At The Bat." But he does it better. And if he has left no joy in Mudville, he certainly has been responsible for a heap of it in Flatbush.

Furthermore, this Casey is much smarter than DeWolf Hopper's Casey could ever have been. He not only fixes it up so the "faithful" can celebrate, but also operates a nice little family place where he sells 'em the wherewithal. Which is what might be called playing both ends against the jack.

Ice water runs in big Hugh's veins when he takes a baseball in his hand. But the fluids he purveys are of a warmer nature, and more calculated to create excitement.

I repeat that I know of no poetry having been inspired or dedicated to this Casey. But here's a sprig of doggrel that he has with our blessing, and our thanks for his part in what is sure to be one of the most memorable World Series ball games ever played:

Casey's on the ground,
Casey's on the mound;
Just hand the ball to Casey,
And he'll turn the game around.

AND "COOKIE" LAVAGETTO, too. He's one of the old hands in the Dodger dougout. One of the five there—Casey included, of course—who played in that other Dodger-Yankee series in 1941.

One of the first major league ballplayers to sign on for service in the war and already well along in his baseball career when he did that in the spring of '42, the smiling fellow from Oakland, Cal., is a man who came back in more ways than one.

The Dodger management had plans for him to move along as a minor league manager in their farm chain. But Harry felt that he still had some value to the team as a player. Who is there in Brooklyn today who'll say that he was wrong?

It could be said of the Yanks in this fabulous and thrill-filled fourth game of the Series that they got hit with a "cookie jar" just when they were ready to start eating the cake.

Which may prove to have been a blessing in disguise to brother Harris and his minions. We have believed from the first that the Yanks would win this Series and still do. Quite possibly by Sunday night if the weather holds.

But, over and over, we have sounded the warning here that this Brooklyn outfit is most dangerous when its cause looks most hopeless. That it won't stay down and play dead for anybody.

Furthermore, it is capable of rising to the sort of heights that would sweep it on to victory in this Series. I don't think so. Yet it is, and has been for several seasons, a team just like that.

NO LESS than a hundred fans must have asked me right after yesterday's game and last night if Harris hadn't pulled "a rock" in ordering Reiser walked intentionally, thereby breaking a cardinal rule of baseball—putting the winning run on base gratis, or F. O. B. Sure Bucky and his normally alert Lieutenant, Charley Dressen, skulled one.

We all know the second guess is not better than the 22d guess. But even if the new style in baseball is to operate in the quietest and most sedate manner—and never, never act like a Durocher trying to win—that's not baseball.

If Harris didn't want to give Reiser, even a half-lame Reiser, a fat pitch, then all right. That could have been smart. Sick or well, "Pistol Pete" is dangerous with a bat in his hand.

But why in common sense give it away? If you aren't too worried about his walking, pitch away from him. He might hit at a bad pitch and pop it up. Or at two bad pitches and strike out—the count was 3 balls and 1 strike at the time.

But surest of all, go out to the mound and talk it over with Bevens while Reiser still was up there, and after Lavagetto came up, too. Dressen, the erstwhile, so-called "brains of the Dodgers" must have been suffering from the Memphis blues.

And that whirring sound you're hearing is Miller Huggins spinning in his grave.

Harris Claims He'd Do it Again

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4—Floyd (Bill) Bevens lost his game (3-2) but his no-hitter of 8 2-3 innings was a record for World Series competition. Rufus Red Ruffing went 7 2-3 for the Yanks against the Cards in the first game of the '42 World Series, the only game the Yanks won from Southworth's speedboys . . . Bevens set another World Series mark in that he passed 10 Dodgers . . . All three Dodger runs were scored by men who walked . . . In the fifth inning, Bevens passed Jorgensen and Gregg, Stanky sacrificed and Jorgensen scored when Rizzuto took Reese's grounder and threw Gregg out at third . . . In the ninth inning Bevens walked Furillo with one out, (Gionfriddo ran) Reiser with two (Miksis ran) whereupon Lavagetto pinch hit for Stanky. Lavagetto's double off the right field wall re-bounded past Henrich, and both Gionfriddo and Miksis scored.

Lavagetto was mobbed by teammates and fans after providing the most dramatic touch to a finish in a World Series history . . . "Bad baseball," said the Yanks of Gionfriddo's steal in the ninth. "Left first base open, and so we walked Reiser, the left-handed hitter" . . . "Bad baseball to walk Reiser," said the Dodgers. "Never should put the winning run on first base. Besides, Resier has a bad ankle and would have had trouble reaching first base unless he hit one off the wall. Hardest base to reach is first" . . . "If the same situation arose tomorrow, I'd do the same thing," said Harris in rebuttal. The old story: any strategy that works is good; any that doesn't is deserving of capital punishment.

Eddie Stanky: "I've been lifted twice this year for a pinch-hitter. First time it was Arky Vaughn, and Arky made a basehit that beat the Cubs' Borowy. This time it was Lavagetto, and his double beat the Yanks and squared the Series. Just think instead of being two down, we're even just because of 'Lookie, lookie, here comes Cookie.' Is'nt it a wonderful life . . . Hugh Casey: "I lost two games on successive days in the '41 World Series with the Yanks, now I win two in two days against the same club that makes us even" . . . Casey set a World Series record by pitching two wins on successive days . . . He made only one pitch to take one from the Yanks. Behrman had the bases filled with one out in the ninth and the dangerous Henrich at bat. Casey made one pitch that Henrich hit back to him and Casey and Edwards converted the hopper into a DP. That set the stage for Dodgers' uprising . . . Casey again: "That's the second time I won a ball game on one pitch. I did it before in 1933. Boy, that pitch I made to Henrich was perfect (curve ball). But I do feel sorry for that guy Bevens. Imagine making about 150 pitches giving onlyone hit and losing, and see a guy like me come in, throw once and win. But I shouldn't feel sorry for a Yankee. I'm from Atlanta, you know."

Bucky Harris: "Bevens must have had arm trouble during the summer. He didn't have half the stuff then he's been showing me the past month." Bevens won only 7, lost 13 whereas in '46 he won 16. So consistently was he losing during the summer that the Yanks had him on the waiver list. He got a reprieve only two weeks before season's close . . . Sore-armed Harry Taylor could not relire a Yank, and he retired in favor of Gregg after walking DiMaggio to force in a run in the first inning . . . Yanks scored their second run in the fourth on a trip'e by Johnson and a double by Lindell . . . Rumors persist here tha' Frankie Crosetti will join Joe McCarthy in Boston as a coach . . . Bucky Harris again: "I didn't know, and Joe DiMaggio didn't know that Bevens was pitching a no-hitter until the Dodgers began reminding us in the seventh inning . . . Eddie Dyer, two weeks back in St. Louis: "You bet those Dodgers are tough. Why they've got two old men sitting on the bench (Vaughan and Lavagetto) who must have beaten us five times this year with pinch hits" . . .

35,000 Fans at Stadium For B. U.-Harvard Clash

By BILL GRIMES

HARVARD STADIUM, Oct. 4—Under ideal weather conditions and in the presence of approximately 35,000, Harvard and Boston University met for the first time (formally) in 23 years here this afternoon.

The sky was cloudless and a light haze nullified the glare of the sun's rays. There was little or no wind. The enthusiasm displayed by the followers of the Crimson and the Scarlet and White warriors was comparable to that of any football rivalry of long standing. The presence of thousands of B. U. co-eds was an innovation to Harvard Stadium attractions. The two bands, numbering approximately 250 musicians, were superb. The B. U. majorettes, clad in natty white and scarlet uniforms, were the outstanding feature of the pregame activities.

The Terriers entered the game as underdogs. And, it's wishful thinking on the part of their zealots to expect them to upset the Crimson, which, potentially, is the best eleven Coach Dick Harlow has directed at Cambridge.

Dick Harlow was incommunicado before the game. The pressure was on Harvard, and, no one realized that more than Harlow.

FIRST PERIOD

B. U. won the toss and elected to receive. Drvaric kicked off to Hatch who got back to his own 21. On the first play, B. U. fumbled and Harvard took over on the Terriers 20. Moravec hit the center of the line for 5 yards, and then Gannon slipped off his own left tackle for a yard. A forward pass, Kenary to Flynn, in the flat gave Harvard a first down on the B. U. 8. After which Moravec picked up 3 yards. Then on a quarterback sneak Kenary advanced the ball to the three with third down and goal to go. Gannon tried a sweep but Boston brought him down a yard behind the scrimmage line. Kenary tried a running pass but failed and B. U. took the ball on their own three yard line.

Kenary was hit hard by Anderson and time was taken out while he recovered. Toner punted to Gannon in midfield and the Harvard back returned the kick 10 yards before tackled by Boston. On a hand off, Kenary to Gannon, Harvard gained a yard. Then O'Donnell was stopped after advancing a yard by the left side of the B. U. line. On a well executed statue of liberty Cleo O'Donnell was thrown for a 15-yard loss. On the next play Flynn punted out of bounds on the 11-yard line.

B. U. was penalized 5 yards for off side. On a reverse Giles picked up 5 yards. On a spinner Hatch raced around his own left end to the B. U. 26-yard line for a first down. On a hand off from Toner, Giles cut outside his right end to the B. U. 34. But on the next play Toner's forward pass caromed off the fingertips of the receiver and was grabbed by O'Donnell who zigzagged and fought his way back to the B. U. 18.

Moffie went into the Harvard backfield. On two line plays Harvard picked up 8 yards. Gannon took a pass from Kenary and got to the six before he was thrown outside by Giles. On another very well executed hand off play Moffie took a pass from Kenary and scored.

Score: Harvard 6. B. U. 0.

Harrison kicked the point after.

Score—Harvard 7, B. U. 0.

Drvaric kicked off to Hatch who raced back to his own 31 where he was hit so hard that he fumbled and Harvard recovered. After O'Donnell had made a short gain, Giles intercepted Kenary's pass to give B. U. a first down on their own 28. A hand off Toner to Giles lost a yard. Gannon knocked down a Toner pass intended for Anderson. Toner threw a pass to Giles out on the flat for a four yard advance. Toner punted to Moffie who fumbled but recovered and was thrown out of bounds on his own 37.

Kenary tried a long forward pass that overshot the mark by a wide margin. After taking a hand-off from Kenary, Moffie cut back and moved the ball up to the Crimson 48 for a first down. On the next play Moravec was hit so hard that he fumbled and Mancino recovered for B. U. on his own 43-yard line as the period ended.

Score—Harvard 7, B. U. 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Flynn broke through and dropped Kirkman for a three-yard loss. And Giles failed to gain on a sweep. Giles' forward pass intended for Kirkman failed. Toner punted and the ball rolled into the end zone for a touchback. Harvard ball on their own 20-yard line. Moffie failed to gain on a straight buck. On the next play Moffie carried again and picked up six yards. Kenary's backward lateral intended for Moffie missed connection and Boston recovered for B. U. on the Crimson 14.

On the next play, Giles broke through to the Harvard two-yard line. On a reverse Mancino scored. Dorr kicked the goal.

Score: Harvard 7, B. U. 7.

Hatch kicked off to Hill who brought the ball back from his own 23 to the Crimson 45. Moffie slipped off his right tackle for 3 yards before Anderson brought him down. O'Donnell at quarterback for Harvard and on the first play slipped around Anderson for 8 yards. A forward pass, Gannon to O'Donnell, gave Harvard a first down on the B. U. 40.

Mancino came up fast and threw Roche trying to sweep for a 10-yard loss. On a wide reverse Gannon took a beating getting back to the line of scrimmage. A Moffie fumble cost Harvard 4 more yards. It was fourth down and 24 to go. Flynn punted and the ball went out on the B. U. 20. Sarno replaced Giles in the B. U. backfield. On a hand off from Toner, Mancino picked up 4 yards. Mancino was hurt and retired, DeLany went in the backfield for B. U. Flynn replaced Gannon in the Harvard backfield.

A mixup with the signals cost B. U. a yard. And then Toner's punt was blocked by Drvaric and recovered by Wally Flynn on the B. U. 12 yard line. On the next play Boyle broke through and threw Gannon for a 7 yard loss. Kenary's pass intended for Gannon went beyond the end zone.

Moffie replaced Roche in the Harvard backfield. Kenary went back and finally threw a pass which Gannon grabbed for a touchdown in the end zone. Harrison converted.

Score: Harvard 14, B. U. 7.

Drvaric kicked off to Kirkman who after taking the catch on his own 3, streaked back to the B. U. 39. A low pass from center was fumbled and recovered by Giles for a four-yard loss. On the next play Giles was stopped for no gain by Markham. On the next play Kirkman broke through and got to the Harvard 32 but the play was nullified by an offside play. Houston threw a block and brought Giles down for a 7-yard loss.

Toner punted to Gannon on the Harvard 30 and the Crimson star fought his way back to the 45-yard line. Harvard was penalized 15 yards for clipping and the ball was brought back to the Harvard 21. Boston was hurt on the play and retired in favor of Malone. Moravec hit the center of the line for seven yards. Moffie cut inside his own right end for a first down on the Harvard 32. Moravec picked up two yards on a straight plunge. Kenary swept around right end to the B. U. 40 where he was knocked out of bounds as the period ended.

Score: Harvard 14, B. U. 7.

THIRD PERIOD

Drvaric kicked off for Harvard to Giles on the 10 and the B.U. captain got back to the 26 where Drvaric nailed him hard. Harvard drew a 15-yeard penalty which brought the ball to the Crimson 47. On a sweep Kirkman was stopped at the scrimmage line by Wally Flynn. Giles threw a long pass from his own 45 to Boston who made the completion on the Harvard eight. On a reverse Giles failed to gain, as Houston hit him at the line. And on the next play Giles was hit so hard that he fumbled and Kenardy recovered for the Crimson on his own four-yard line.

Flynn punted to Giles who got back to the Harvard 26. A forward pass, Toner to Mancino, gave the Terriers a first down on the Harvard 11. Toner tried an over the center pass which failed. Feinberg broke through and nailed Toner for a 7-yard loss. B. U. was penalized 5 yards for too much time out and lost four more when Giles was nailed behind the line by Feinberg.

It was fourth down with 33 to go. Toner threw a running pass which Winkler snared sensationally for a touchdown. Dorr kicked the point.

Score—Harvard 14, B. U. 14.

Hatch kicked off into the end zone and Harvard put the ball in play on their own 20. Moffie slipped off tackle for 4 yards before Winkler got him. Moravec found another hole in the Terrier line and carried the ball to the B. U. 38. Kenary's pass intended for Hill failed.

Moravec hit the line again and gave Harvard another first down on the B. U. 34. On a quarterback sneak Kenary got up to the 30. And Moravec plunged for 5 more on the next play. Moravec carried again for 4 more yards and a first down to the B. U. 21 yard line.

Everett Seeks 3d Straight

EVERETT STADIUM—In quest of its third straight victory, the Everett Crimson Tide squared off against its first stern test of season meeting Somerville High, while an estimated 10,000 watched here this sunny afternoon.

Boasting one of the most formidable lines in schoolboy grid circles, average weight 198 pounds, Everett holds victories over Turner's Falls and Arlington. The Gildea crew has piled up 54 points while holding the opposition scoreless.

Somerville, loser to Chelsea in its lone start, was out to put the damper on Everett's hopes for the Class A title.

FIRST PERIOD

Deep in its own territory, Somerville kicked out to its 24. Two play later Everett's Bob Merola took a lateral and skirted his own right end for 20 yards and touchdown. Merola plunged over for the point.

Score—Everett 7, Somerville 0.

SECOND PERIOD

A holding penalty set Somerville back to its own seven. On the next play a Somerville back fumbled and Rudy Scenna recovered on Somerville's two. Merola took off on the same wide end sweep and went over standing up. An attempted pass for the point was knocked down.

The Red and Blue showed its first offensive spark when Bob Hickey passed from the Somerville 33 to Sheehan who scampered to the Everett 13 before being brought down. Somerville then unleashed a passing attack with Hickey doing most of the heaving. It failed to click since the stout Everett forward wall kept breaking through and smearing the passer. Blond Cliff Johnson stood out in the Crimosn line.

Forced back to the Everett 28, Somerville lost possession. Three Everett plays gained nothing and the Crimson kicked to the Somerville 1. Somerville continued its passing game but it backfired when Jimmy Carroll intercepted for Everett on the Somerville 35.

On the next play Bill Goches tossed a long aerial to Dick Lionette who stumbled over for a touchdown. Charley Leander added the extra marker on an end run.

Tufts Intercepts For 1st Touchdown

By ALEX MacLEAN

TUFTS OVAL, Medford—With hopes of constructing a winning streak now that they have returned to their own class of small time football, Tufts, with a victory in their opener a week ago, played host to the Devens Chiefs from the GI College, Ayer.

The Jumboes rated as favorites to administer the Chiefs their second drubbing of the still young campaign. A week ago, A. I. C. topped the GI's in their lid lifter and debut in college grid ranks.

FIRST PERIOD

Doliner of Tufts kicked to Kelley who returned to the 34. An exchange of kicks set the stage for the first Jumbo T. D. as Doliner, gathering in a lofty spiral at midfield swiveled his way to the Devens 10 before Bob Byrne eluded two Tufts interferers to drag down the fleeing Jumbo half back. However a clipping penalty momentarily stalled Tufts and a fumble by Calagione cost them possession. The Chiefs, on their own 20 twice tried unsuccessful plunges and then resorted to the air. Ed Schlunte partially blocked Kelley's pitch and Rudy Fobart intercepted and galloped to pay dirt.

Doliner's kick was good.

Score—Tufts 7, Devens, 0.

Doliner kicked into the Devens end zone and Hession returned to the 30 before being swamped, but a holding penalty backed the Chiefs to their own doorstep. An attempted double reverse failed and McKinnon recovered on the Devens 9. Doliner smashed to the four, and then fed to Fobart sweeping on an end around and the squatty Tufts flankman went to within six inches of a tally before he was stopped. Haines plunged over.

Doliner kicked the conversion.

SCORE—TUFTS 14, DEVENS 0.

The period ended with Devens in possession.

SCORE—TUFTS 14, DEVENS 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Devens was backed deep into their own territory and twice kicked out of danger but Tufts was unable to get their ground or aerial attacks functioning with first period precision, and failed to threaten. Haines, back to kick for the Jumbos was roughed and they gained a 'life" and a first down via the resulting 15-yard penalty.

Lee, unable to find his receiver, was swamped by a half dozen Devens linemen on the Devens 40. Heined booted to Kelley on the Devens eight and the shifty swiftly returned along the sidelines to the 31. Devens netted a first down on a Nagle to Jomroy screen pass and was camped just inside the Tufts side of the 50.

Desperation passes with Nagle and Solari doing the pitching failed to connect as Tufts presented an impregnable pass defense until the half ended.

Score—Tufts 14, Devens 0.

Indians' Fans Up in Arms

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4 (INS)—Irate Cleveland baseball fans continued today their barrage of letters and telephone calls to Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, as they rallied to the defense of manager Lou Boudreau.

Alarmed by the violent reaction of the fans to the reported trade, Veeck is due to arrive today in Cleveland by plane from New York to get a first-hand impression of the public's wishes.

"I don't want to do anything to alienate our customers," the Indians' prexy declared. "On the other hand, I have to be guided in the long run by my best judgment and the best advice I can get." He added:

"I thought the trade I proposed to the Browns would help us. If I made it and it turned out badly, I would be the one that was hurt, but I don't think it would turn out badly."

Possibility of renewed negotiations between Veeck and Boudreau was seen with the star shortstop's statement that he would accept a one-year contract as a player "if the price is right." Previously Boudreou had insisted on a contract as manager also.

Veeck called off the proposed player-deal with the Browns last night but stated later that re-opening of negotiations is probable. In the deal the Indians would send Boudreau, pitchers Red Embree and Bryan Stephens to the St. Louis Browns in exchange for shortstop Vernon Stephens, outfielder Paul Lehner and pitcher Jack Kramer.

But when they were within the Malden 20, the home team held ground. Haverhill then took to the air, but two passes into the Malden end zone were blocked to stop the invaders' touchdown march.

As the period ended, Malden took the offensive and ran the pigskin on four successive first downs, to the Haverhill 32. At that point the period ended.

Durocher's Job With Dodgers Uncertain

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4 (AP)—The day after the World Series ends Leo Durocher goes back on the reserve list of the Brooklyn Dodgers, but there were indications today that his rehiring as Dodger manager was uncertain.

Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, when asked what he was going to do about his $70,000-a-year suspended manager, said:

"I don't know."

Friends of Rickey said he feels he is not free to negotiate with Durocher unless Commr. A. B. Chandler publicly welcomes him back to baseball. This is because Chandler suspended Durocher with a long statement in the course of which he stated that "Durocher has not measured up to standards expected of managers of our baseball teams."

The commissioner apparently intends no public welcome. At the most he may make public his correspondence restoring Durocher to the reserve list.

There is a report that the Dodgers voted Durocher a cut in the World Series winnings. If this is the case, the commissioner will veto it, those who know him predicted. He does not feel Durocher has earned it.

(The New York Times said it had learned Chandler would disapprove payment of the series share voted to Durocher by the Brooklyn players. The Times said also that "unquestionably authentic sources" had revealed that Durocher would draw his full salary for the 1947 season. Durocher reportedly received $20,000 of his salary before he was suspended last spring. The times said its information was that Leo would receive the balance of his pay after the series.)

Rickey said in an interview that "I have had several talks with Mr. Durocher and I undoubtedly will have several more."

Rickey already has a baseball manager in Burton Edwin Shotton who led the Dodgers to victory in the National League race and is now in the middle of the World Series—and doing very well at it.

It might have been significant that after yesterday's hair-raiser Rickey asked a group of newspapermen what they thought was the feature of the game.

The answers centered on Cookie Lavagetto's winning double and Bill Bevens' lacking only two strikes of the first World Series no-hitter.

"No," said Rickey. "It was Barney Shotton's decision to lift Harry Taylor at precisely the right moment in the first inning and put in Hal Gregg."

On several occasions there has been church criticism of Durocher, a thing organized baseball wants to avoid, and only yesterday the Right Rev. Joseph A. McCaffery, chaplain of the New York police department and archdiocesan director of the Holy Name Society in New York city, said in an interview at Boston that Durocher and Rocky Graziano, the boxer, sheuld be "banned forever from sports."

Com. Chandler is reported to have given great weight, when he suspended Durocher, to the fact that the Catholic Youth Organization in Brooklyn withdrew its support of the Dodgers because Durocher was manager.

Msgr. McCaffery said that both Graziano and Durocher "have no right to be in the world of sports, where innocent kids are apt to place halos around their heads, and, even worse, try to imitate them."

HOUSTON TAKES DIXIE SERIES TITLE

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 3 (AP)—Veteran centerfielder Hal Epps gave Houston the Dixie Series title, four games to two, last night with a single that beat Mobile, 1-0.

The game was a tight hurling duel between Clarence Beers of Houston and Frank Laga of Mobile.

Beers, the Texas League's most valuable pitcher, gave up four hits while Laga, a top hurler in the Southern Ass'n, fielded only three before bowing out in the ninth inning. He had walked two men.

Epps, who batted .302 in regular season play, singled to score Coots with the winning run.

It was the first Dixie Series title for Houston, which finished on top of the Texas League during regular season play.

Robinson Receives for Yankees

By HUCK FINNEGAN

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 4—Is this skull duggery? Skull duggery on the Dodgers' part? It was said before they took on the Yankees in the fifth game of the World Series today that Rex Barney would be their pitcner when everybody expected southpaw Vic Lombardi.

Even Bucky Harris of the Yankees was unable to find out, Shotton holding off from naming his lineup until the very last minute.

Baarney, on paper, doesn't rate as a starter. A fine young prospect, yes, but too raw for World Series competition. Had only a 5-2 record this year, not being used because of wildness. Big and fast, but immature.

Maybe Shotton was playing tricks with the now-harried Yanks. Maybe he'd announce Barney and let him pitch to a few hitters, then switch to Lombardi. Harris himself pulled that same trick against the Giants in the '24 World Series. He started Curley Ogden and then switched to Lefty George Mogridge and thus forced lineup changes.

Harris today intended to start rookie Jack Phillips at first base if Lombardi pitched. McQuinn has been helpless against southpaws. But now with righthanded Barney working he had to go along with McQuinn. And out of the doghouse came catcher Aaron Robinson, who can throw so much better than either Berra or Lollar that he was granted a reprieve.

One thing Harris was sure of, however, was that Joe DiMaggio would play. After his ankle injury it was feared he'd be unable to perform today, and the Yanks would miss his bat, glove and leadership qualities.

"It feels good enough," said DiMaggio as trainer Eddie Froelich bound the appendage with tape. To prove he could locomote, he went out and hit a couple into the stands during batting practice.

At 1:15 Frank Shea, as advertised, started warming up for the Yanks. "And it will be Allie Reynolds tomorrow," said Harris, who has been naming his pitchers a day in advance all during the series.

Yes sir! It was Barney for the Dodgers as Brooklyn fans moaned: "What are you trying to do, Shotton, give 'em the series? Behind Shotton's move probably was the thought that the slim lefty would be more effective tomorrow with an extra day's rest. Lombardi pitched less than five innings in the second game of the series which Reynolds won.

There they were at any rate—Shea and Barney. She was the first game winner though he pitched only five innings. Barney? Nobody figured on him.

Aaron Robinson Replaces Berra Behind Bat

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 4 (AP)—Rex Barney, obscure refugee from the Brooklyn bullpen went to the hill as Manager Burt Shotton's surprise pitching choice to oppose the New York Yankees' spectacular rookie, Frank Shea, in today's fifth World Series game.

Barney, a 22-year-old fireball chucker from Omaha, Neb., hasn't started a game since July 4 when he was knocked out by the Giants in the second inning. He has yet to throw a complete game this year although his record of 5-2 includes two wins over Pittsburg on the same day, June 3.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Yanks also decided on a late change, inserting catcher Aaaron Robinson in place of Larry Berra. Both are lefthanded hitting catchers. Robinson hit .274 this season as second string to Berra but he smashed 16 homers and batted .297 as a standout 100-game catcher in 1946.

To add a little spice to the pregame activities, Dan Bankhead, the Brooks' Negro pitcher, warmed up briefly for a half-hour before game time, stopping as the Yanks went out for infield drill.

Harris was still holding his fire on announcing a definite lineup until he was sure who would start for the Dodgers. If it's Barney, it will be Robinson behind the plate and George McQuinn on first. If he shifts to a lefty at the last second, it will be Sherm Lollar catching and Jack Phillips, a rookie from Newark, on first.

The last doubt about Barney was removed when the fast-balling righthander came off the bench to warm up with coach Clyde Sukeforth.

Barney appeared in a relief role in the second game, allowing one hit in 1 2-3 innings.

Locked up with the New York Yankees at two wins each, the Brooklyn Dodgers hope to swing through the next two on the impetus of Cookie Lavagetto's pinch double that ruined 8 2-3 record innings of no-hit pitching by Bevens in the ninth inning of the fourth game.

Bouncing back from two opening defeats, the Brooks have swept both in their home park, where they have played their best all season long. The scene shifts back to the Yankee Stadium tomorrow for the rest of the series.

The limited number of bleacher seats, actually located in the upper tier of the center field grandstand, were sold out shortly after the gates were opened at 10 o'clock.

A few blocks away there were 4000 would-be customers waiting permission to buy standing room. Police had them hemmed in behind a series of barriers, planning to escort the fans to the standing room gate, 50 at a time starting at noon.

The 3000 early birds in the bleachers gave out with a cheer that would suffice for clinching a world championship any place except Brooklyn, as Bobby Bragan and the first contingent of Dodgers stuck their heads out of the dugout.

That was just a mild sample of what was to come when Lavagetto parked three straight practice homers into the left field seats off Bill Boylan, the batstanding batting practice thrower, Eddie Miksis, who ran for Reiser and sped home from first with the winning run yesterday, followed Boylan to the pitching mound.

Al Gionfriddo, whose steal of second base, made possible she dramatic winning spurt against Bevens confided he had stolen only two bases all year.

"But this was the big one," he added in one of the prize understatements of the series. He forgot to add that he stole some 52 or 53 bases for Albany in the Eastern League in 1944 before he came up with Pittsburgh.

Bill McGowan, senior umpire of the American League, moves behind the plate again. He worked there in the opener at the Yankee Stadium. Babe Pinelli of the National, will be on first, Ed Rommel of the American on second and Larry Goetz of the National on third. The alternate umps again will shift, George Magerkurth of the National, going to the left field line and Jim Boyer of the American to the right field line.

WIFE FEARS FOR 'COOKIE'S' SAFETY

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 4 (AP)—Harry "Cookie" Lavagetto's wife is a little concerned about her ballplayer-husband's safety among those win-punchy Brooklyn fans.

"There's no telling what those Brooklyn fans will do to him," she told reporters after Lavagetto's pinch-hit game-winning double.

"The radio announcer said they had to call the police to get him off the field."

Mrs. Lavagetto said that when Harry went to bat in the ninth "I said more 'Hail Mary's' than I've ever said before—and he got a hit. Isn't it wonderful!"

JOB CONFLICT

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (AP)—James Burns, 29, goes to work driving a bus at 5 a. m. Mrs. James Burns, 35, gets home just a few hours earlier after her nightly stint in the chorus at a burlesque show.

They took the problem to court today.

Mrs. Burns said she came home from work and felt like doing a little drinking. Burns said he felt like going to bed. They argued. He hit her. With his open hand, he said. Fist, she said.

Magistrate Thomas L. Fitzpatrick gave Burns a 15-day suspended sentence on an assault charge.

Bill Dudley Leads Detroit Into Yanks' Fenway Den

Football's most colorful all-around gridder, Bullet Bill Dudley, makes his only Boston apperance of the year tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park when he leads the dangerous Detroit Lions against Ted Collins' up and coming Boston Yanks.

Dudley, back in the "T" formation where he wants to be, is even more devastating this year than he was with the Pittsburgh Steelers last season. He's still "tops" as a runner, as a punter, and as a pass intercepter, but the one change from last year is that Bill doesn't have to pass anymore. The Lions have Roy Zimmerman and Clyde LeForce who take care of that department very well.

Now that Dudley is not a pitcher, he has broken out as a great pass receiver. In two league games he has caught 8 passes and is now aiming for leadership in that department. Yes, it appears that the only time you can reach against Bill Dudley is on a punt out or when Dudley is on the bench for a short breather.

But the Yanks feel they have a runner in Joe Golding who can match Dudley. Joe, of course, can't do all the things Dudley can do with that ball but as far as running goes, the former Oklahoma boy will hold his own with anybody. The first time he carried the ball in the N. F. L. he went 72 yards from scrimmage against the Giants for a touchdown although it will never appear in the record books for there was a holding penalty on the play—an honest penalty but one that did not in any way aid Golding in his great run.
